

CURRICULUM VITAE

LAUENER, ROGER-PASCAL

Date of birth: April 15th, 1961

Married, 2 children (born 1991 and 1993)

University of Zurich, Children's Hospital

Steinwiesstrasse 75

CH-8032 Zürich, Switzerland

e-mail: Roger.Lauener@kispi.unizh.ch

---

Schools and postgraduate training

- Schools in Zurich
- Medical School at the University of Zurich
- Training in pediatrics at Zurich University Children's Hospital
- Training in allergy and immunology at Boston Children's Hospital / Harvard Medical School
- Training in pediatric rheumatology in Paris (Diplôme Universitaire, Université René Descartes, Paris)
- 1995 - 2000: Attending physician in immunology/allergology, bone marrow transplantation, and in general pediatrics

Current position

- Head, allergy, University of Zurich Children's Hospital

Boards

- Board in Laboratory Medicine (immunology) of the Swiss Society for Laboratory Medicine
- Board in pediatrics of the Swiss Medical Society (FMH)
- Board in clinical immunology and allergology of the Swiss Medical Society (FMH)

Scholarships, Research Grants, and Awards

- 1988: Extended Scholarship Award of the UCB Institute of Allergy
- Grants from the Swiss National Research Foundation, the European Union, Bonizzi-Theler-Foundation, Kühne-Foundation
- Nestlé Research Award 1993, 1996. Pfizer price clinical immunology 2003; Gertrud und Walter Siegenthaler price 2005; Guido Fanconi price 2005

Research interests

How does exposure to microbes influence the development of the immune system in children? How does the stimulation of the innate immune system by such exposure affect the development of immune-mediated diseases, especially allergies?